

ONE YEAR OF REAL DATA • 01

I just spent 12 months watching one Kingman website.

SOURCE • GA4 • 17,000 ACTIVE USERS • 12 MONTHS

THE HEADLINE

Visits that happened on a phone:

87.4%

| MOBILE | DESKTOP | TABLET |
|--------|---------|--------|
| 87.4%  | 9%      | 3.6%   |

Not 60/40. Not 70/30. Nine out of ten visits. This is what "mobile-first" actually looks like in our market – and it's not an opinion, it's a measurement.

GA4 • 17K USERS • MAY '25 → MAY '26 • LOCAL KINGMAN CLIENT

OF THOSE PHONES

iPhone outweighed Android nearly 3 to 1.

01

TIP 01 OF 04

STRUCTURED DATA

Add schema markup to your site.

Schema tells search engines and AI exactly what your business offers – your hours, your location, your menu, your prices. It's the difference between being read and being understood.

02

TIP 02 OF 04

CLEAR ANSWER FORMATTING

Structure your content to answer questions directly.

Not buried in paragraphs. Not vague. Direct answers an AI can parse and serve. If a sentence doesn't answer something a customer would ask, it doesn't belong on the page.

TIP 03 OF 04

LOCAL BUSINESS VERIFICATION

Make your name, address, and hours match everywhere.

Google Business Profile. Apple Maps. Yelp. The local directories you signed up for in 2019 and forgot about. Consistent info across platforms is what builds AI confidence in your data.

04

TIP 04 OF 04

REAL CASE STUDIES

Post the real results you've delivered.

Sharing real outcomes from real clients is the strongest signal you can send – to customers, search engines, and AI. Vague testimonials don't cut it anymore. Specifics do.
