Brand Identity System · v1.0 · 2026

- Cobalt Blue is the only accent — use sparingly for CTAs, icons, and emphasis.
- Ink Black anchors all headlines and dark surface backgrounds.
- Sand and Off White are primary page and surface backgrounds.
- Never use Cobalt Blue as a large fill — it weakens its impact at scale.

06 — PATTERNS & TEXTURES

- Dot grids: 8–12px spacing. Never denser than 8px.
- Kinetic rays always radiate from a single source point or dot.
- Patterns are backgrounds only — never foreground decoration.

07 — MOTION & GRAPHIC LANGUAGE

- Compositions built from dot, line, and contrast — no decorative animation for its own sake.
- Movements converge on or radiate from a single dot. Copy overlays are always short.

08 — LANDING PAGE FRAGMENT

- Two card variants: Ink Black (primary) and Off White (secondary).
- Decorative dot clusters always bottom-right, opacity 0.15–0.5.
- Arrow CTA in a filled circle. Never text-only CTA on cards.

10 — EDITORIAL POSTERS

- Three poster modes: Ink (dark), Cobalt (brand blue), Light (neutral).
- Copy is short and period-ended. Max two lines of display text.
- Dot mark always present — never absent from a poster format.

11 — PHOTOGRAPHY STYLE

- Human, real, forward-looking. Authentic moments over polished setups.
- Color grade: neutral-warm. Avoid oversaturated or high-contrast edits.
- People are the subject — technology is always context, not the hero.

- Nav: logo mark, 5 links, blue CTA. Always on a white surface.
- Active nav state: blue fill, white text. No underlines or bold-only states.
- Stat blocks: blue number + muted label. No units embedded in the number.

13 — PACKAGING CONCEPTS

- Two tiers: Starter Kit (light) and Partner Pack (dark).
- Dot mark always top-left on all physical packaging.
- Box copy follows voice rules: short, purposeful, period-ended.
